Campus Views

Approach the entrance with a head upheld
When knowledge is behind the unbarred door;
And eagerly stretch out both hands
To fill them with eternal store.

Proud inspiration of our college dreams,
Reach farther with your ever-climbing spire
Until no man or cloud can tell
If God or human will is higher.

We come with running feet to mount these stairs;
We come with happiness and glad young power.
Through many years these walls will hold
The echo of each living hour.

May grave tradition make its harbor here
To lend to beauty added charms that grow;
While memories of well-lived years
Return with voices firm and low.

CLASSES

SENIORS

Senior Activities

To frame and adopt a constitution was one of the first acts of the Senior class. Committee chairmen were appointed and the work for graduation was begun. In spite of the busy year ahead, the Seniors took time to welcome the incoming class and provided games for their amusement. This gave them the jump on the other classes as far as the fairer Freshmen were concerned.

An innovation which apparently has proved itself worthy of being made permanent was the Class President's Council, originated by the Senior class.

The dignified Seniors, with great hopes for the future, came to the rescue of the unemployed and contributed the sweaters, coats, suits, shoes and neckties, which have been seen in the halls during the past four years, to the Mayor's Committee—it being agreed that every new teacher must have a new wardrobe.

Combining with the Junior Degree Class the annual ball was made the social event of the year. The talent and originality, so prominent in this class, brought forth many new and novel ideas for Moving-Up Day and Class Day.

Song of Youth

*Singing our anthem we come,
with the gladness escaping our lips—
Waving our torches to burn in the sky,
Crying our prayer to the sun—
We come.
With the beauty of old visions won,
With the glory of youth marching by,
We come!*

*The hills shall re-echo our song
and shall throb to the beat
Of our feet on their unburdened march.
Striding to drums never seen—
We come.
And the ages behind us stand dumb,
Amazed at the progeny grown from their dream.
We come!*

JUNIORS

Junior Activities

The Junior Graduating Class carried on the Big Sister movement with great success, holding a Freshman-Junior Picnic in Delaware Park during the opening week of college. A Big Brother movement was also started by this class.

Class Day was, of course, celebrated with enthusiasm and energy. The Junior Graduating Class took part in the Junior-Senior Ball in which the upper classes co-operated.

The class gave its support to the various activities of the college, such as the Interclass Sing, the old clothing collection, and the Joint Charities Fund.

JUNIOR DEGREE

Junior Degree Activities

The Junior Degree Class has been very active during the past year. The year's activities were started with a Freshman-Junior Picnic in Delaware Park where the two classes became acquainted.

The vocal supremacy of the college is an honor belonging to this class. At the Interclass Sing this fact was proved when they won the famous banner.

The annual Junior Prom was discontinued this year, the class combining with the Seniors to hold the Junior-Senior Ball. The Junior Sister movement was continued and extended in its scope. It is the hope of the class that this work will be continued in the future.

Sophomore Activities

Peaceful and serene were the slumbers of the Sophomores this year. They have spent the year in the proper collegiate daze, arousing themselves only to annoy the Freshmen during Hazing Week, and to throw a few pounds of flour in the direction of the Green boys during that spectacular war, "The Tournament of Flours." Then a party and dance was given for the new-comers at the end of Freshmen Days, and after that week the Sophs soon settled to slumber silently.

In October they sang—in fact they actually competed in the Interclass Sing. There was also a class party in October, a Hallowe'en Party. (The cider was terrible but the music was good.)

November was a great month. The Sophomores opened two eyes long enough to vote Socialist. In December they hung their stockings up. In January they took their stockings down. In February they gave the stockings to the Mayor's Committee on unemployment. Just about that time they set out to win the Interclass Cheering—would have done it too if they could have secured a cheer-leader and if their siren would have refrained from breaking during the first quarter.

March, coming in like a lamb, was the signal to settle down again. April brought forth the annual Sweater Dance. May found them peacefully enjoying their active career. And now June brings forth groans as the class doffs the orange cap which indicates the finish of Sophomore Slumbers.

In addition to the above "activities" the Sophomores came to school regularly and also donated a penny a day.

FRESHMEN

Ev. Zoch M '35

Freshman Activities

During the Fall of 1932 the Freshman Class gave all other classes ample opportunity to act as hosts, being entertained at parties, picnics and the like. A little later in the semester the Sophomores took quite an interest in this group and did everything possible to provide for their amusement. Their efforts however, were not appreciated by the class. The climax to this spirit of devotion came during a Flour Battle which was won decisively by the Freshmen.

The Class of '36 entered whole-heartedly into the activities of the College and was represented throughout the year by a large percent of the class. The judges rated them as second best at the Interclass Sing, a position gained by lusty voices and a great deal of pep.

This year for the first time State was represented by a Freshman Basketball Team. This group organized and worked together to form what will be a fine Varsity squad in the next few years.

Athletic Association

During the past year the Athletic Association operated for the first time under the new constitution as drawn up in 1932.

According to the constitution the purpose of this organization is "to promote sportsmanship and a close spirit of friendliness among the students of the college; to promote, foster, manage, and direct athletic activities for both men and women in the college."

With this purpose in mind, the council has endeavored to promote a more thorough athletic program for the college year, stressing especially the Intramural Sports. It is thought that through a more extensive intramural program more students will become interested and take an actual part in the sports.

It is hoped that through a more thorough sports program in which every member of the college may participate, a more genuine spirit of co-operation and general interest will be evidenced on our campus.

Tennis

The Tennis Team which represented State for the past season of 1932 was in every way worthy of the college and the sport.

In all, nine matches were played; of this number State was victorious in six. They won from teams representing the University of Buffalo, Fredonia, Brockport, and De Veaux.

The players who set this fine pace were Harold Banks, Frank Banyas, Stewart O'Hagan, Neil Smith, Howard McLernon, and Harry Hatten. The last four men formed the nucleus for the 1933 tennis team. Student-coach John Rush Evans was at the helm again this year.

FEATURES

Ode to the Editor

'Twas the day before dead line, and all through the town
 Not a creature was stirring; we'd all settled down.
 The dummies were scattered all over the room,
 The task of assembling them was coming too soon.
 The staff had looked forward to this day with dread,
 Now visions of yearbooks just danced through their heads.
 Associate editors, there with their staffs
 Had just 'wakened themselves from a long winter's nap;
 When in the next room there arose such a clatter
 We sprang from our daze to see what was the matter.
 Away to the editor's office we flew,
 Helpers, typists, associates, too.
 The room was all cluttered with paper and ink,
 And there in the corner—oh, what do you think—
 The shock nearly floored us, we hate to admit,
 But there was our editor throwing a fit!
 With his hands flying wildly, his hair torn to shreds,
 We knew that harsh words would soon fall on our heads.
 More rapid than eagles his curses they came,
 And he bellowed, and shouted, and called us by name.
 "What's wrong with this blank staff? Just lazy, I guess,
 Well, you sure have done plenty to make this a mess.
 You've got to get going—get busy, don't stall,
 Now get away, get to work, dash away all!"
 So hurriedly back to our office we flew
 Helpers, typists, associates, too.
 We began listing Seniors, and writing wise cracks,
 When in blew the editor hot on our tracks.
 He stood there in shirt sleeves, sweat poured from his brow,
 "We're going to finish this thing here and now."
 His face was as pale as a kettle of mush,
 We don't know what happened to his famous blush.
 He looked worn and weak, and was thin as a rail,
 A year ago he had been hearty and hale.
 He sank to a chair and went straight to his work
 And scribbled and scribbled; then turned with a jerk,
 And gathering up papers, and pictures, and pens
 He left us without a request for amends.
 He reeled through the door—oh dear! would he make it—
 And we heard him exclaim—"I guess I can't take it."

CHRONOLOGY

Which is the Etymology of '32-'33

By the shores of old Scajaquada,
By the shining green quadrangle,
Stood the wigwam of State Teachers,
Dr. Rockwell's joy, State Teachers.
In September came the Freshmen,
Came the green and shining Freshmen,
On that lucky day the thirteenth,
With their bags and traps, the Freshmen.
Journeyed they with Junior Sisters
To a picnic in the woodlands,
Where they learned about our College,
Learned its ways and all its secrets.
Close behind them came the "Wise Frosh,"
Came the Sophs, the Juniors, Seniors,
Came the valiant Upperclassmen,
Registering with Blanket Taxes.
On the seventeenth, September,
To a camp at Forty-Acres,
Fared the women Frosh to meeting,
Met they Profs, and Deans and Classmates.
Then the Senior Glee Club picnic,
And the first dance of the season
Given by Home Economics,
On the twentieth and twenty-third respectively.

Following closely in their waltz-steps,
Came the twenty-ninth and dancing
Given by State's Orchestra members.
Then the blue skies of October
Shone down on the N. R. A. Tea,
On the sixth day of October,
Closely followed by more dancing
For the next moon brilliant lighted
All the gym, as Theta Sig danced.
On the fourteenth generous Sophomores
Feted all the lowly Freshmen
At their annual Sophomore Party.
On the eighteenth of October
Each class tuned its vocal cordings,
Raised its diaphragms, preparing
For the annual Interclass Sing
Won, the woodland spirits tell us,
By th' harmonious Junior Degrees.
On the third day of November
Came the Frosh again in limelight
As escorted by the Juniors,
They were guests at a reception,
Shook they hands with num'rous professors,
All arrayed in Sunday clothing.
On the fourth day of November,
Tri Kap warriors assembled

All their peace-time paraphernalia,
 And to strains of joyful music,
 Danced they all the newest dances.
 Psi Phi braves and Delta Sigma Epsilon maidens
 On the eighteenth of November,
 Journeyed they to State's gymnasium,
 There to dance and make them merry.
 On the ninth day of December
 Came our foes from Geneseo;
 On the tenth day of that twelfth month
 Basketball again was favored,
 This time State and its Alumni.
 Alpha Sigma Alpha danced
 On the sixteenth of December
 In the gym, to tuneful tom-toms.
 On the next day, State and Cortland
 Played again our major sport,
 While the twentieth of December
 Found event upon event
 Crowding out our study hours:
 First, a game with Niagara University;
 Then, in the College, sang the School of Practice children,
 Waits in solemn halls of learning;
 There too came a Jolly Santa,
 None the worse for a depression;
 "Open house" said organizations
 As they welcomed every student;
 Carols on the quad were sung,

Supper and a dance attended,
 Thrilled, we saw the Christmas Play.
 From the twenty-first December
 To the fourth day of the next month,
 Students took a holiday.
 On the sixth day of the new year,
 Basketball against Fredonia.
 Alpha Sigma Tau then danced, on the third of February,
 Played the team at basketball
 At Mechanics Institute.
 Followed closely on the fourth day
 By basketball with Geneseo;
 Then on February eighth, played the team with Brockport Normal;
 On the sixteenth of this same month
 Art Kraft and Dramatic Clubs united talents
 To present a Chinese drama;
 And Pi Kappa Sigma sorority
 "Campus Capered" on the seventeenth.
 On the twenty-fifth of February
 State's team played Fredonia Normal;
 Followed in the month of whirl-winds
 Games with M. I. and Oswego.
 March the third, the Sailors' Hornpipe
 Found its way into our presence
 At Pi Delta Theta's dance.
 Six days later on a Thursday
 Stunt Nite too was celebrated.
 On the seventh day of April

Music reigned within our portals
 In the Inter-Glee Club Contest.
 On the thirteenth day of April
 Packed we all our school belongings
 As we journeyed home for Easter.
 On the twenty-eighth of April
 Decked we in our finest raiment,
 For the Upper-Class Prom was reigning.
 In the month of birds and flowers,
 May the fourth and fifth exactly,
 Our Dramatic Club presented in the College Auditorium,
 The Spring Play, "Paolo and Francesca."
 On the tenth day of May
 Was the Sophomore Sweater Dance.
 K. P. day was duly celebrated
 On the sixteenth of these May days;
 May the nineteenth brought more music
 In the Annual Spring Concert.
 While one week hence all the classes
 Moved a notch up in the ladder
 As they entered Moving-Up Day.
 June tenth until the thirteenth, duly donning caps and gowns,
 Seniors were the last time feted
 In the halls of Teachers College;
 Journeyed they with well-earned sheepskins
 Out to prove their worth in teaching,
 And State Teachers College on them
 Here bestows her choicest blessing.

The Scenic Artist Takes No Curtain Calls

Back of the "big drop" in every theater is the man who provides the proper stage settings. His work and that of his staff is essential to the success of every play.

The task of your annual designer may be likened to that of the scenic artist. He furnishes the background on which are portrayed the achievements of the Class of 1933. He accentuates the literary brilliance of the State Teachers College Staff through appropriate art, harmonious design, and tasteful typography. His work perpetuates the spirit of the Class of 1933.

Baker, Jones, Hausauer count it a privilege to have acted as "Scenic Artists" for the 1933 ELMS. We crave no curtain calls. If we have furnished a background of unusual distinction for the outstanding performance of the Staff, we are well content.
